

The best partnerships have their challenges.

Would you enter into a silent partnership with me if you put up all of the capital, had all of the exposure, and did all of the work?

You would own 70% of the partnership and I would own 30%. You know that I spend money recklessly, owe a lot of money, and have creditors who are constantly threatening me. By the way, I would also put a stipulation in our buy-sell agreement that at any time, I can increase my partnership percentage.

This is exactly what you have done with almost every asset that you have planned on using for retirement.

Stocks, bonds, mutual funds, annuities, savings, business interests, real estate, your 401(k), IRA, etc. That "silent partner" is The United States Government. The government currently owns 30% of everything that you have (in taxes), spends money recklessly (21 trillion dollar debt), and is constantly being threatened by creditors. Your "silent partner" can simply increase taxes to raise more money anytime.

May I send you a game-changing book (a quick read) that tells you how to eliminate your "silent partner" in your retirement planning? "The New Rules of Retirement Saving" is a powerful book that sheds light on the myths

We Prepare Business Owners for the Unexpected

It takes a lifetime to build a business and it takes a moment for it to fall apart. All it takes is an unexpected death, an unforeseen illness, or a key personnel departure. Business owners must understand the possibilities, prepare for the risks, and plan for their continuity and succession. Protecting the business means protecting the families that depend on it. The financial stability is interconnected. We understand this because we live it ourselves. - Founder, Nathan S. Sachs, CLU, ChFC, CFBS, CTP
